MAUS Client Needs Analysis

Structure the way you work and automatically produce reports that will impress every time! MAUS Client Needs Analysis is the perfect tool for performing an initial audit on your business in minutes rather than hours. This tool provides you with a structured process to analyse your business and provides a detailed report for you to follow.

- The software automatically compiles a professional client needs analysis based on a core set of assessment questions.
- This dramatically reduces the stress and 'unknown' by having a structured approach that is effective for all business owners to follow methodically.
- Simply run through the diagnostic questions, and the software will automatically produce a professional needs analysis report and business assessment proposal.

Instantly create detailed and easy to follow business assessment reports!

Easily export to Word/PDF

The level of service received this far is of a high standard. The software has been a great addition to our future development plan. I look forward to using the software extensively.
